Preparation:

To qualify for this class, you must have passed or tested out of ASA 101: Basic Keelboat Sailing and ASA 103: Basic Coastal Cruising. As well as have 30 logged hours of sailing either inland or coastally on a midsized boat. Please read the entire book Cruising Fundamentals before your ASA 104 class. We also recommend that you look over the sections in your ASA logbook on basic coastal cruising and bareboat chartering (pages 21-30) to preview what you will be learning.

Food is not provided. Learning to provision is part of the class, and you will be assigned to provide one or more meal(s) based on the number of people on board. Your captain/instructor will contact you before the class with more specifics. Our cruising sailboats are equipped with iceboxes, propane stoves, basic pots and pans and small ovens.

Directions:

You will be contacted as to what boat you will be training on as well as the locations that you will be using once the class is coordinated.
